

The Faith and Work Page

A resource for working Christians from ICF-UK

ICF Launches its new look website

Log on to www.icf-online.org for a range of prayers, reflections and other resources designed to help Christians who are seriously looking to live out their faith in the workplace.

Various resources are also available for those tasked with preparing services who wish to include a focus on the working lives of the congregation.

The site also includes information on how you can become of member of ICF

A Faith at Work Moment . . .

It is often suggested that the church needs to look more to world of advertising to learn how to put its message across, but two recent adverts demonstrated that perhaps things are working the other way around. The first was a new housing development in London which took it's inspiration from Newton's famous hymn of a similar name by describing its apartments as "AMAZING SPACE". Across the road, a well know retailer used a billboard to announce its new home-ware range as "ALL THINGS BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL".
